

Dating Boot Camp Workshops

Sessions and Schedule

The remarkable program that has successfully launched thousands of people into the dating game.

#1 Pacing Your Relationship for Success

Going too fast too soon is the most common mistake that dating singles make.

In this workshop, participants learn a simple, sure-fire template for setting the right pace – from the very first contact. In the evaluations at the end of the series, this material is cited over and over as the single most valuable piece of all the information presented in the series. Nothing like getting off to a good start!

#4 Defining and Attracting Your Mr./Ms. Right

The second most common mistake dating singles make is trying to make a relationship work with someone who is not right for them.

In this session, you will define your Mr. or Ms. Right using a broad-based compatibility model. Using this model will allow you to select dating prospects who truly have long-term compatibility with you.

Next Session: January 23, 2021
Registration Deadline: January 17, 2021

#2 Dating Rules and Strategies

Tips, templates, and hacks for navigating dates 1, 2, and 3. If you've ever thought, "I feel like someone changed the rules but nobody told me," you will want to attend this session.

- Strategies for navigating all-important dates 1, 2, and 3 with ease
- Current dating rules and how to make them work for you
- Get more first, second and third dates
- Bonus: Get your personal dating questions answered

Next Session: October 17, 2020
Registration Deadline: October 11, 2020

#5 Scoring Points with the Opposite Sex

There are certain innate differences between men and women. "They come with the plumbing," my mother-in-law used to say. She was right.

As a dating single, it's important to know, to understand and to accommodate these differences for a male-female relationship to reach its full potential.

Next Session: February 20, 2021
Registration Deadline: February 14, 2021

#3 Networking Skills and Strategies

It's a fact that single people need more friends and contacts than married people do. When you're partnered, your companionship is built in. When you're single, you have to arrange it.

- Discuss & practice conversation starters
- How to join a group that is already engaged in conversation
- Identify singles-only and singles-friendly websites, activities, and organizations of interest to you. You will be pleased to find out how many there are!

Next Session: November 14, 2020
Registration Deadline: November 8, 2020

#6 Unlock the Secret of Online Dating

Online dating sites can be excellent networking tools when used wisely and well. This session will teach you how.

You will become privy to insider tips and secrets for attracting the right people for you. This is a hands-on, real-time work session. Bring your favorite electronic device.

Next Session: March 6, 2021
Registration Deadline: February 28, 2021
